

TRAINING

LF Licence (forklift)
$550 + GST per person
(minimum 4 people)

Telehandler (gold card)
$495 + GST per person
(minimum 4 people)

Elevated Work Platform (yellow card)
$395 + GST per person
(minimum 4 people)

LF (forklift) High Risk Licence Nationally Recognised

The LF licence is mandatory for anyone wishing to operate a forklift in Australia.

Consists of a two day course run by regional independent training organisations with a third day assessment handled by a Work Cover Assessor.

Once successfully completed, your Work Cover High Risk Forklift (LF) licence is valid for five years.

Training conditions include:

- Operator must be over 18 years old
- Guardian present for trainees under 18
- MUST speak & understand English
- 100 points of ID presented (issued in NSW)
- 7am start unless otherwise stated
- Morning tea provided

Telehandler (gold card) Nationally Recognised

The gold card licence provides the training required to operate all non-slewing telehandlers. The course was created for those telehandler operations where there is no Work Cover (high risk) licence. The gold card is fast becoming a standard requirement for all telehandler operators and covers the following areas:

- Plan & prepare
- Conduct machine pre operational checks
- Operate telescopic handler
- Attach, secure, lift, carry and place materials
- Relocate telehandler
- Carry out machine operator maintenance
- Clean up
- Theory and practical assessment

You will require a crane (CN) licence when using a jib attachment on a telehandler over 3 tonne

EWP (yellow card) Nationally Recognised

This course was designed to cater for all EWPs under 11 metres as no licence currently exists with Work Cover. The course will cover:

- Hazard identification, risk assessment & controls
- Fall arrest harness inspection, fitting & use
- Identify safe operating parameters using data plate manual
- Conduct pre & post operational checks
- Operation of EWP
- Emergency procedures
- Theory assessment & practical observation & demonstration

This one day course is packed with hands on training. A photo ID will be presented once successfully completed.